PROFILE

Ever since i was 13 years old i have been passionate about design in any shape or form, i'm one of those persons that think every detail its important when it comes to design.

When learning web development, i discovered that making things "work" by typing lines of code or simply translating an image to HTML/CSS and see it with my own eyes on the browser got me excited, and then it got me even more excited knowing the countless things that can be made.

Currently, im a Jr looking to get experience to grow and build amazing things!.
